

Mondtagebuch

A large circular diagram divided into 24 equal segments, resembling a clock face. The segments are arranged in a radial pattern, with lines extending from the center to the outer edge. This diagram is intended for a moon phase journal, where each segment represents a day of the month.